OBITUARY NOTICE OF HAWKINS BROWN, M. D.

In presenting a memorial notice of the late Dr. Brown, the caution conveyed in the good old adage, "de mortuis ois nisi bonum" seems altogether superfluous, for certainly nothing praiseworthy could be said of him, nothing lovely and of good report, that would not find a ready echo in the hearts of all who knew him. He possessed to an eminent degree those gentle and engaging qualities of mind and character which endeared him to all with whom he came into intimate relations. The sad circumstances of his taking off, the calm courage, the admirable patience and wonderful cheerfulness he displayed under the infliction of a long and painful illness, lent a peculiar tenderness to the sorrow with which the announcement of his death was received. Dr. Hawkins Brown was born in Lincoln county, near Hustonville on Nov 12, 1831. Few particulars of Dr. Brown's early life are accessible to me. He received his preliminary education in Stanford and at the parochial school in his native village. After being prepared for college by Mr. Charles Barnes, he entered the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, from which institution he received his diploma in 1850. He returned at once to his native village, where he continued to reside until his death, which occurred at 3 A. M. Tuesday, Dec 1st, from angina pectoris. Early in 1899 he was compelled by the rapid and serious inroads of a disease, from which he had suffered for some years, to relinquish his active practice and from that time until his death he was for the most part confined to his room. Dr. Brown was pre-eminently a medical society man. He was associated with numerous medical organizations. He was a member of the American Medical Association for more than 25 years and was once its vice president; of the Kentucky State Medical Association and was the president at its meeting held in Louisville in 1893; of the Central Kentucky Medical Association, of which he had the distinction of being elected twice to the presidency; of the Lincoln County Medical Society, he was a charter member at its organization in 1868, twice its president and remained an active member until the past few months. His relation with his home county medical society was the last link which bound him to his dearly beloved professional life. His interest in all things relating to its advancement and improvement continued a ruling passion, strong even to the day of his death. Dr. Brown made few notable contributions to medical literature. He had little taste for literary composition and the engrossing demands of a large practice left him little leisure for this kind of work. He was ever ready to contribute his share to the discussion of papers and clinical cases presented before the medical societies of which he was a member. He was essentially a progressive man, always eager to lay hold of new modes of treatment. In his relation with his professional brethren Dr. Brown was upright, honorable and just. Envy, malice and uncharitableness were foreign to his nature. He was ever disposed to add to, rather than detract from, the good name and fame of a brother practitioner. Few men of so positive a nature have maintained such extended professional relations and aroused so few antagonisms. He had no enemies. He was gentle and courteous in his manners, endowed with great natural kindness of heart and a ready, overwhelming sympathy which at once engaged the confidence of his patients and led them to regard him, not only as a physician, but as a friend. To many of his patients he was their confidant and adviser, not only in matters relating to their health, but in their material interests as well. The helpful, human side of his nature was ever turned to those who sought his advice. He was fortunate in the possession of a cheerful, sanguine temperament. His buoyant spirit was infectious. His cordial greeting, his cherry words and his bright, confidant manner diffused an atmosphere of sunshine in the sick room and inspired hope in the hearts of his patients. Although he was attentive to the business aspects of his profession, he did not regard the practice of medicine in the light of a money-making calling. The ingratitude and lack of appreciation which he, like all professional men, sometimes encountered, did not sour his nature or make him mean-thropic. He preserved to a singular degree the freshness of his feelings and the faith in human nature to the end of his life. In this brief, but imperfect sketch of our late associate, we have the record of a life not remarkable for its incidents and achievements, but which illustrates in no ordinary degree those finer virtues and graces which adorn our humanity, and those qualities which ennoble and dignify our profession. A character so faithful to truth and rectitude must ever hold a dear place in our memories.

FLEMINGSBURG.

Since we can not write Kingsville items of news this week, we will try to write up Flemingsburg. We have been the guest of our aunt, Mrs. Milford Overly, for the past week and find the town almost, if not quite the equal of Stanford. In fact it is almost a counterpart of Lincoln's county seat in location, and then the people, individually and collectively impress us as having many characteristics similar to the good people of Stanford, which shows how very favorably impressed we are with our present surroundings.

Flemingsburg, which is the county seat of Fleming, located in the northeastern part of the State, is more than 100 years old, but doesn't look its age by any means, i. e., it is not dilapidated. Its public buildings are all convenient and kept in good repair. Its streets are broad and well paved, its sidewalks of brick and concrete, are kept in much better repair, shall we admit it?—than even the dear old sidewalks of Kingsville, our home town. It has five church buildings (white) all quite handsome structures, and each occupied by a regular pastor, a large church membership and a good Sunday school. The Christian church is exceptionally beautiful and well equipped for the size of the city. It is built of tin (which was preferable to silver or gold.) There are three hotels, two banks, two printing offices, more than 30 stores of all kinds, a number of medicine shops, a splendid graded school, a large flouring mill and lumber yard, four livery stables, Odd Fellows and Masonic buildings and many handsome houses, offices and dwellings. The various trades and professions seem to be pretty well represented by the people of Flemingsburg. There are five ministers, five doctors, 13 lawyers, several druggists, two editors, a dozen teachers, three dentists, besides merchants, clerks, machinists, etc. Altogether Flemingsburg (to quote from one of its most substantial citizens and good democrats) "is one of the biggest cities of its size and the youngest of its age to be found anywhere in the Blue Grass State." ELIZABETH M. CREIGHTON.

Didn't Like The East Room.

"Is it solid gold?"

The eager questioner was a country woman, a member of a crowd which a railroad agent was piloting through the East Room of the White House. She pointed to the piano with the gold leaf coating as she asked the question.

The guide attempted to evade the woman's question by referring to the seals of the 13 original States which adorn the sides of the instrument, and explained that it was the one hundred thousandth piano manufactured by a prominent American firm.

"Is it solid gold?" the woman interposed.

Still the guide did not answer. "You will notice that there are 13 settees in this room, one for each of the original States," he continued.

"But I want to know whether the piano is solid gold," the woman insisted.

"Huh!" the woman retorted. "I've seen callipos that looked better and I had hoped that it had value to recommend it. When there's only one real piece of furniture in a room of this size a person sort of expects that it will be worth coming to see. I can't find anything fine about the room but the yew you get from the South windows."

Fight Will be Bitter.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. R. Beall of Beall, Miss. has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once and four bottles entirely cured her." Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c, and $1. Trial bottle free.

MR. JOHN FOX, JR.

Among the story writers that have compelled public attention in recent years, none have won more rapidly an enviable reputation than has John Fox, Jr. As a reader and lecturer, Mr. Fox has given himself a pronounced success. His reading of the mountain dialect is simple and unaffected and rings as true to the mountaineer as does Thomas Nelson Page's Negro dialect to the Negro. There is a quality of sympathy in his voice and a personal magnetism about him that holds attention from the beginning to the close of his lectures and readings. Of this distinguished young Kentuckian, James Lane Allen says in part: "The ranks of American story writers and the platform of American readers and lecturers have been enriched by the accession of Mr. John Fox, Jr., who, at the very outset of public career, shows the wealth of his resources and the versatility of his powers. His stories have been widely and wisely accepted as among the most virile, original and variously effective pieces of literary art that have come from the living writers of the South. His delightful readings of these stories in New York City, Brooklyn, Washington, at Vassar College, in Louisville and elsewhere have deepened the impression of their humor and their tragic intensity. Not only is he a very beautiful reader, but he is the first public reader of the dialect of the Kentucky and Tennessee mountaineers that has yet appeared. He lived several years among the native folks, talked with them, studied them, so that as a result of his gifts, experience and his aims combined, this form of the American sport should, under his control, be revealed for the first time in its entire fidelity to truth and nature."

The press bestows unstinted praise upon Mr. Fox wherever he has been or where his stories have gone. "Mr. Fox," says the Chicago Inter Ocean, "impressed his audience with the fact that he is a man of strong intellectual qualities, of a keen sense of humor, a subtle analyst of the qualities that mark men and the peculiarities that mark their manners, speech, habits and mode of living. He is a strikingly fine impersonator of character, and above all a rare writer who can tell what he has to tell in a manner at once novel, entertaining and pleasing." At the nation's capital he received a cordial welcome. "Quite the most enjoyable affair of the kind that has taken place in Washington this winter," says the Washington Post, "was the lecture and reading by Mr. Fox at the Washington Club on Tuesday afternoon." Mr. Fox is one of the obvious exceptions to the rule. "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country." Of him the Lexington Herald says: "The audience which greeted Mr. Fox was made up of the best literary element of Lexington. The humor and pathos of these mountaineers—transcribed as few can give them—the personal charm of the author and his popularity here, where he is widely known, made the entertainment a most delightful one in every sense." Under the auspices of the Stanford Lyceum Club Mr. Fox will appear at Walton's Opera House Dec 8th. A large Stanford audience should greet him and avail themselves of so rare a privilege.

LIBERTY.

The youngsters are having a fine time on the fish pool skating.

Sheriff Elliott has collected $13,000 of the $18,000 he has on his books.

Mat Wilkinson has been suffering considerably lately with grip, but is better.

John E. Sharp has moved from the country to town, occupying the Pierce property.

We beg pardon for the long state of lethargy, and promise not to take another one of Old Rip's long naps.

Chas. Phillips was at Dunnville last Wednesday night at the Woodmen's Camp Meeting, which was organized recently.

Prof. I. S. Flanigan and assistant, Henry Wesley, closed the public school Friday. Prof. Flanigan is an excellent teacher and has advanced the pupils rapidly.

M. K. Humphrey and Os Bowman are hunting in the Mt. Olivet section this week. Charley Montgomery spent Thanksgiving in Lexington and Paris, returning Monday with the broadest smile we ever saw. Drummer Joe P. Wilkinson made a tour in the Western part of his district this week.

Dink Wilkinson is preparing to move to town. He will occupy the George Stone property. Dr. I. C. Dye, of this place, has returned home after visiting relatives in Indiana. Circuit Clerk-elect Jason Wesley is assisting the county clerk. T. J. Phillips was down home Sunday from Hustonville, where he is engaged in the Hustonville Roller Mills.

NEWS NOTES.

Maj. Charles E. Kilbourne, U. S. A., died on a train as it neared Chicago. John L. Scott, the oldest and one of the best-known lawyers of Frankfort, is dead.

The big Catholic University at Ottawa, Ont., was destroyed by fire. The loss will reach $250,000.

Mrs. Wilson Swearinger, aged 33 years, was burned to death at her home in Simpson county.

A big demand for Kentucky corn has been created by the re-entrance of Baltimore as a chief export city.

Auditor's Agent Albritton has filed suit against 81 citizens of Carroll county for back taxes aggregating $1,000,000.

The court of appeals ordered a new trial for J. W. Bess, of Lexington, sentenced to death for murdering Martha Martin.

The English House of Lords decided that women are debarred by their sex from becoming qualified lawyers in England.

H. C. Staymenter, an American missionary, and 23 natives were drowned by the capsizing of a boat on the Congo, in Central Africa.

At Asheville, N. C., Dr. J. V. Jay, convicted of the murder of his three children, was sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Nearly 100 letters, threatening his life, have been received by Attorney Davis, counsel for the Chicago Aldermanic "graft" investigating committee.

William Goode, conductor in the yards of the Cincinnati Southern road, was run over and instantly killed by a switch engine in the yard at Lexington.

Custer Gardner, in jail at Moundsville, charged with the assassination of S. H. Osborn and his son, David Osborn, of Hart county, strongly denies the charge.

Gov. Beckham ordered the withdrawal of the State troops from Jackson, on the advice of Circuit Judge Redwine, who says their presence in Breathitt county is no longer needed.

E. J. Howard, postmaster at Saltz, Harlan county, has been sentenced to pay a fine of $400 and serve six months in the London jail for violation of postal laws and regulations. The crime consisted first, in being deficient in his accounts with the government; second, in committing perjury by making false affidavits.

Judge Kohlsaat in the United States district court at Chicago, appointed Fred H. Blount and Albert D. Currier receivers in bankruptcy for the property of John Alexander Dowie at Zion City, on petition of three creditors alleging an indebtedness of $1,169. The petitioners allege that Dowie is insolvent and has made preferential payments.

JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE called a meeting of his followers in the tabernacle at Zion City for the purpose of starting a fund of $1,000,000 to pay off his indebtedness. The tabernacle was only about half filled and the responses to Dowie's tearful appeals were feeble. Receivers are in charge of the Zion City property and of one of Dowie's banks in Chicago, and experts are at work on the books with the object of preparing a statement of his financial status. It is believed his liabilities will reach $725,000, but the receivers express the belief that he may be able to pay off all his obligations in time.

THE annual report of Director Roberts shows that during the year the output of the three government mints is number of pieces was greater than any previous year. The pressure for small coins greatly reduced the stock of silver bullion. The reduced coinage of gold, on the contrary, increased the stock of bullion of the yellow metal. The gold exports for the year were nearly $3,000,000 greater than the imports. A comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures for November shows a deficit of nearly $3,000,000 for the month.

AS usual, Gov. Beckham is right. The State should not be put to the expense of paying soldiers to do police duty. There is a sufficient number of good citizens in Jackson to protect life and property and they should see that it is done. If the town is ever to resume its good name it must be done.

POLITICAL.

J. Wheeler Campbell, of Paducah, was nominated at Wickliffe by acclamation for State Senator to succeed McD. Ferguson.

A special session of the Louisiana Legislature will be held this month to pass laws which it is hoped will keep the boll weevil out of the State.

It is said in Washington that Perry Heath's resignation as secretary of the Republican National Committee would not be unacceptable to the President, but that Senator Hanna is opposed to Mr. Heath's stepping out while he is under fire.

Dr. Hunter wants a place on the River and Harbors committee. He will be sworn in today. Former State Senator Ed Parker, of London, announced in Washington that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for Congress in the 11th district next year.

Senator Morgan introduced a bill in the Senate authorizing the Canal Committee to investigate the part alleged to have been taken by the transcontinental railroads in regard to the Isthmian canal matter. The Committee on Pacific Railroads is also authorized and required to make inquiry.

Senator McCreary, chairman of the Goebel Monument Commission, has been informed by W. M. Adams, of Lexington, who is doing the granite work on the monument, and Martelli, of New York, who is to make the bronze statue of the late governor, that the clay model is ready for the inspection of the committee.

Gum Shoe Hunter, who has drawn his mileage to Washington and is now drawing his "per diem per day," as the late Senator Debow would say, will raise himself in the estimation of the honorable men of both parties if he will see that Collector Craft and U. S. Marshal Sharp shall walk the plank as soon as possible. Such scheming traitors deserve immediate decapitation.—Lexington Democrat.

HUSTONVILLE.

Cowan & McCormack shipped Wednesday two car loads of export cattle to Jersey City. This being a lot of very fine cattle, they went with them to see that they brought a fine price.

The Weatherford Hotel, under the able management of J. G. Weatherford and wife, whose fame in this line extends far beyond the confines of Kentucky, will be ready to care for the traveling public next Monday.

Late advice from Mr. L. A. Fariss' home, the scene of the late spiritual phenomena, is a return of rappings inside as well as outside the house, together with other manifestations not heretofore enacted in connection with this remarkable case.

A building committee consisting of Judge Wm. Myers, J. W. Hocker and Charles Wheeler has been appointed by the board of trustees for the purpose of inspecting plans and specifications of prospective builders and issuing permits to all that meet their approval. All those interested will govern themselves accordingly.

C. Rud McCormack and wife have taken rooms at Mrs. Bogle's for the winter. Mrs. E. J. Willis, nee Bennett, of Hopkinsville, is visiting Mrs. T. J. Robinson on Danville avenue.

Her husband, Elder E. J. Willis, is pastor of the Christian church in that city, which pulpit was for many years ably filled by the Rev. E. L. Powell, now of First Christian church, Louisville.

On the 12th day of November, 1831, near this city, Dr. Hawkins Brown first saw the light of day. His seeming untimely death on the morning of Dec. 1st has cast a gloom upon our entire community, the pallor of which reaches the heartstrings of sorrowing friends, the multiplicity of which we are unable to measure, for he had no enemies. He was kind and charitable to all, and though gone from our sight, he is still tenderly enshrouded in our hearts and memories. His acts of charity were a distinguishing feature of his life. His faith prompted him to cast the anchor of his hope in Heaven, with a firm reliance on the promises of an immutable God and his soul had become so luminous with truth that the interior light and glow, blazed out through every loop and crevice of his being. Who can fill his place?

And steadily goes the procession on, Jostling each other with faces wan, Sometimes smiling to tide a care, Bending beneath the burdens we bear Till the same little mound covers all in the end.

The lover, sweetheart, the foe and friend, While the green waving grasses whisper and bend As the procession moves—steadily on.

LANCASTER.

The city council has given the water works contractors a month longer to finish laying the pipes and complete their undertaking. The lake is filling up rapidly so all will be ready for use in a week or two.

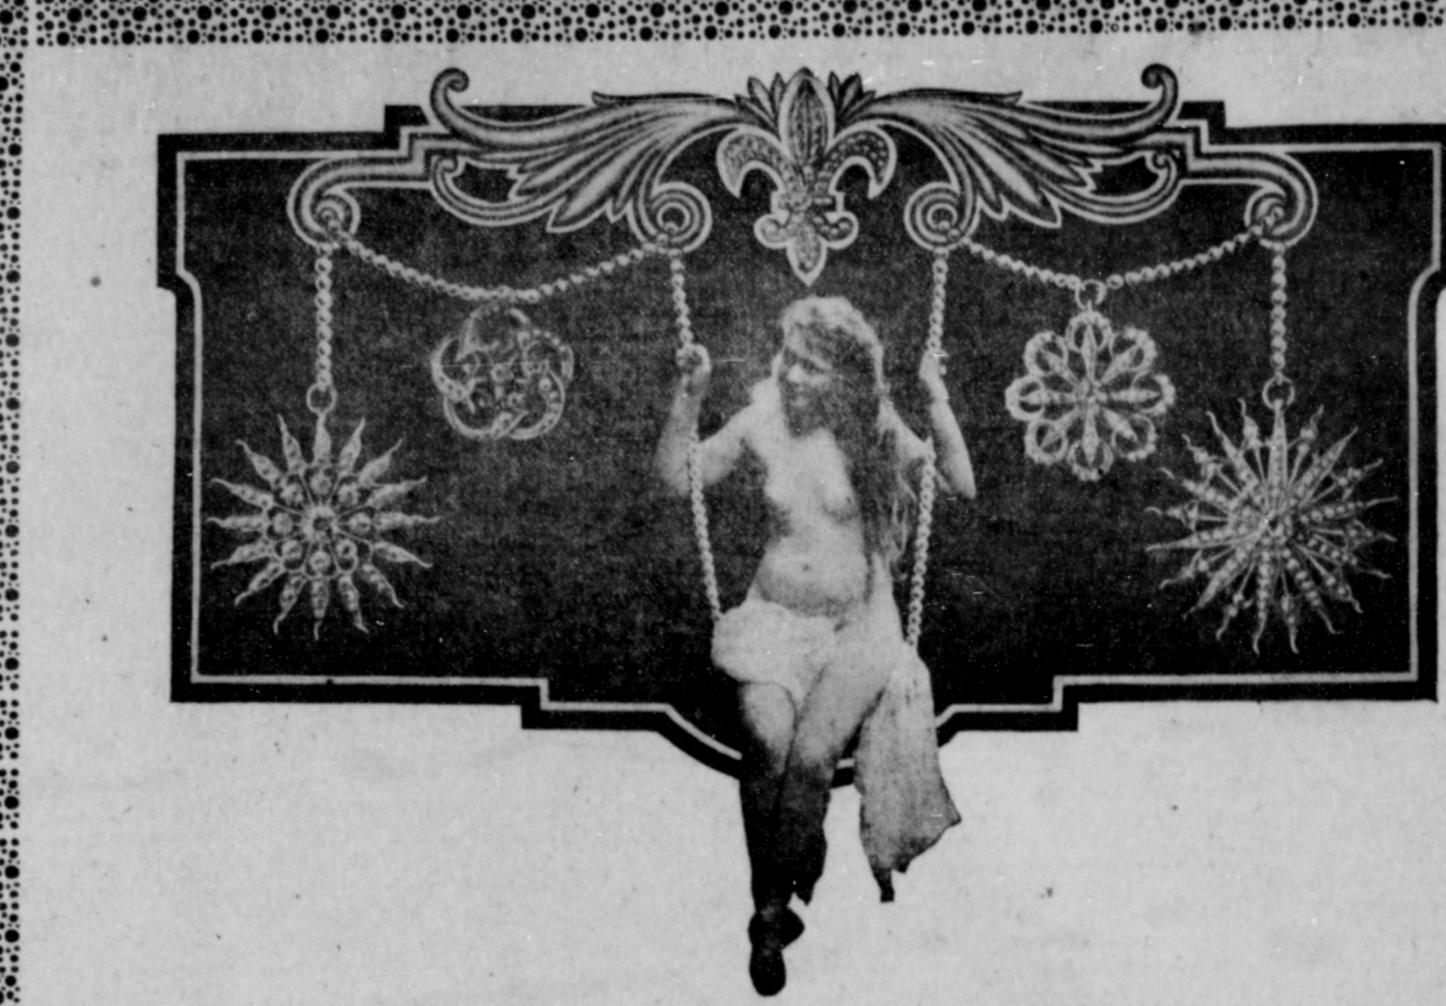

In one of the primary rooms in the Graded School Monday morning an accident occurred that in a minute more would have ended the life of Cora Perkins. The child was cold when she came to school, so stood too close to a red-hot stove, which in a few minutes had set her apron on fire and all was in a blaze in an instant. Some little boy who was standing near her threw cloths around the child, thus saving her life. She was not seriously burned.

Messrs. Walker Hudson, Louis Gill and Kenneth Herryman have returned to school at C. U. Messrs. Earl Ward and Willie Fox Logan have returned to State College. Misses Martha and Helen Gill, of Glendale, have returned after a visit to their sister, Miss Mary.

J. A. James and T. C. Boone have formed a partnership and bought a new saw mill and they will push the business. There is some talk of taking the old mill to the world's fair.

Matthew Johns created comment a few days ago by tying his horse's tail to the end of a wagon tongue and pulling it home, a distance of five miles. But what seems strange, he appears to be clothed in his right mind.

H. C. Gentry and wife, of Mt. Vernon, were with friends here Sunday Jno. and Wm. McKinney went to Garfield to attend the burial of Stephen Marshbanks, an aged uncle. James Chappell, who has been seriously ill, is improving. Garland James and wife are also better, the former being able to gather corn.

Diamond and Pearl Pendants, Diamond Rings.

MISS ELLA HILTON went to Louisville Wednesday to visit her uncle, Mr. Robert Sears.

MR. ASHBY M. WARREN went to Richmond Wednesday afternoon to attend a big hop.

MRS. GEO. B. LAWSON and little son, of Guthrie, O. T., are here to spend the winter with relatives.

MISS POLLY DUANE TRAYLOR, of Lincoln county, is the guest of Miss Clyda McGinnis—Danville News.

JUDGE J. W. ALCORN and daughters, Mrs. J. N. Saunders and Miss Kate Alcorn, went to Louisville yesterday.

MRS. E. P. OWNSLEY and daughter, Miss Mattie Bays, arrived Wednesday from Columbus Ga. to visit relatives.

MRS. R. FRANK PEAKE, who has been visiting her brother, Rev. P. J. Ross, returned to Shelbyville Wednesday.

R. L. LEWIS went to Montgomery, Ala., Tuesday to take a position with the L. & N. in the baggage department.

MR. AND MRS. L. C. ADAMS, of Madison, are being entertained on their honeymoon by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunn.

MR. GEORGE L. PENNY went to Cincinnati yesterday. W. S. Embry is staying at Penny's Drug Store in his absence.

HON. HARVEY HELM and Joe T. Embry are down in the oil fields of Wayne preparing to drill a lot of wells on their holdings in that county.

MR. AND MRS. J. S. RICE entertained a few friends in an elegant manner Tuesday at 6 o'clock dinner. Several courses were beautifully served, which were fit for the gods.

WINFRED WITHERS is clerking for John Bright, Jr., & Co. Mr. U. D. Bright, who has been with the firm, will leave next week for Wilton to take a position in the commissary of a big mining company.

COL. WILLIAM SWOPE and family, of Jessamine, will, the latter part of the week, move to Lexington and make their home. They will occupy the Tarleton home on West Third Street—Lexington Democrat.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN B. MERSHON entertained some friends to meet, in family reunion, his daughters, Mesdames A. C. Hill and J. R. Beazley, of Stanford, on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. W. R. Gooch was called to the bedside of her aged father, W. D. Gooch, Esq., in Lincoln county, last Friday. He is suffering with grip and pneumonia, with more favorable symptoms at last report. He served his county as justice of the peace for 12 consecutive years—Somerset Journal.

LOCALS.

WILL have a big supply of fire works for Xmas. Farris & Co.

VERY SCARCE.—Zibellines. We have them. Severance & Sons.

DEC. 22ND is the last day you can buy fire works. Better buy now. Farris & Co.

FREE with every purchase of $3 or more a souvenir of Stanford View China at Mueller's.

MILLINERY AT COST.—I have on hand a pretty line of millinery, trimmed and untrimmed hats, I will sell at cost. Give me a call. Mrs. Cleo Brown.

THOSE desiring to purchase a home would do well to consult the Central Kentucky Real Estate Exchange & Title Co. We have several places for sale which are not advertised.

MISS SALLIE ELKIN will have exhibit and sale of her work in decorated porcelain in the parlor of St. Asaph Hotel on Dec. 15th. She extends to the public a most cordial invitation to call and see her work, even if you do not care to purchase.

JEWELRY, such as rings, brooches, lockets, in the newest and best designs, at Mueller's.

IF you see this notice in time put on your very best bonnet and gown and go to Jones' Holiday Opening today and tonight.

WE will have on display Saturday some new things that arrived too late for our opening day. Come and see them. John P. Jones.

THE L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to the inauguration at Frankfort next Tuesday at $2.55. The train leaves here over the K. C. at 4:50 A. M. and arrives at Frankfort at 8:38.

THE Lincoln County Medical Society will meet in Stanford on Tuesday, Dec. 15. Dr. J. C. Barker will read a paper on "Diagnosis and Treatment of Pneumonia" and Dr. W. J. Edmiston one on "Capillary Bronchitis."

HOT DRINKS.—I am now prepared to serve the following hot drinks: Beef Tea, Tomato Bouillon, Clam Bouillon, Grape Kola and Chocolate. Call in and try them. Coca Cola always on hand. H. D. Campbell.

ON Friday next, Dec. 11th, Henry D. McClure will sell at auction at Turnerville, a lot of household and kitchen furniture, two bed room suits, a folding bed, a wardrobe, couch, organ, etc. Sale begins at 1 o'clock.

TAXES—Unless you pay your State and county taxes on or before Thursday, Dec. 17, 1903, your property will be advertised in the INTERIOR JOURNAL and sold. I am ready to pay all county claims. M. S. Baughman, Sheriff.

DIED OF HER BURNS.—Mrs. Bony Gill, aged about 60, died at her home near Mason's Gap yesterday from the effects of burns she received Wednesday. Her clothing caught from the stove and she was horribly burned.

WE are much pleased that our efforts on opening day met with such expression of approval from so many of our friends and customers. We thank you for this encouragement and assure you that our future efforts shall be to serve you still better. John P. Jones.

BEAZLEY.—Charles Beazley, brother of James R. Beazley, the tinsmith, died at St. Joseph, Mo., and was brought to Lancaster and interred Tuesday. He was the oldest son of the late James Beazley and was a steady, honorable and hardworking young man. He went West some 15 years ago.

THE Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will on Saturday, Dec. 12, give a Bazaar and exchange in the sample rooms of the Veranda Hotel, next door to Mueller, the jeweler. Cakes, home-made candies, etc., and all kinds of fancy articles will be for sale during the entire day. Mrs. R. B. Mahony, Sec.

THE opening Tuesday and Tuesday night at Mr. John P. Jones' store was largely attended and it was a success in every particular. The store was full of new and pretty goods, tastily arranged and each visitor was presented with a button hole bouquet. At his next opening, Dec. 1, 1904, Mr. Jones will serve frappe to his guests.

JOHN FOX, JR., author and reader, will appear at Walton's Opera House next Tuesday night, Dec. 8. Mr. Fox comes to us with the highest recommendations as a lecturer, and as a humorist he is without a peer. His imitation of mountain dialect is certainly a treat in itself. Tickets on sale now. Under management Stanford Lyceum Club.

MR. ED PEYTON showed his good judgment by deciding to remain in Lincoln county, rather than move to Middlebury, as he once thought he would. Wednesday he bought of W. H. Brady his stock of groceries, tinware, etc., and will continue the business at the old stand in the Myers House building. He asks a portion of the patronage of the people of Stanford and vicinity. Mr. Brady has not decided what he will do, but we'll wager it will not be long before he will engage in some paying business.

THE appellate court, Judge Hobson writing, reversed the Mercer circuit court in a case of the Southern Railway Company in Kentucky against the Commonwealth, and remanded the case with directions to dismiss the indictment. The Mercer county grand jury indicted the corporation for alleged discrimination in freight rates from Louisville to Harrodsburg. The court says there was no violation of the law. By the reversal Commonwealth's Attorney Owlesley is lesser to the tune of $3,000. The road had been fined $6,000 and he would have gotten half.

THOSE desiring to purchase a home would do well to consult the Central Kentucky Real Estate Exchange & Title Co. We have several places for sale which are not advertised.

MISS SALLIE ELKIN will have exhibit and sale of her work in decorated porcelain in the parlor of St. Asaph Hotel on Dec. 15th. She extends to the public a most cordial invitation to call and see her work, even if you do not care to purchase.

DON'T fail to hear John Fox, Jr., at Walton's Opera House next Tuesday night, under management of Stanford Lyceum Club.

WANTED—Traveling men, $80 per month salary; $18 per week expense money and commission. Contract one year; $25 cash guarantee required. Address R. W. Judy, Lexington, Ky., box 14.

WE have dissolved partnership and you are earnestly requested to call in and square up your account. This means you if you owe us anything Baughman & McCormack, Hustonville.

IF you want to sell your farm or town property, place it with the Central Kentucky Real Estate Exchange & Title Co. If your property can be sold, we can sell it for you and can secure as good a price for it as anybody. Our advertising facilities are second to none. Give us a trial.

IN CASEY—The I. J. representative spent a portion of this week in Casey and returned home with his pockets fairly filled with filthy lucre. He found the people in a prosperous condition generally—the farmers feeling good over their abundant crops and the merchants in high spirits because of an unusually good fall trade. He struck "hog killing time" center and lived high for the short time on spare ribs, backbone, sausage etc. On returning Wednesday he counted 17 homes where hogs were being killed or where they had been killed and were hanging up to cool out. Most of the swine slaughtered were heavy fellows, and if Casey county people do not have meat enough to last until "hog killing time" comes again, signs go for naught. Big court convenes at Liberty Monday, when the smallest docket in years will be disposed of. It is Judge W. W. Jones and Commonwealth's Attorney N. W. K. Aaron's last term in the "State of Casey" and it looks like they can finish up things in three or four days. The most important case to be tried is that of Reed for killing Browning and a clear case of self defense will more likely be established. The two were fooling with a gun when the tragedy occurred and were the best of friends. Liberty continues to grow steadily and is now a town of no small importance. Green River is lower at this season of the year than it has been for a long time. It is scarcely running in some places. The majority of Casey republicans are sore over Dr. Hunter's receiving the certificate in the Congressional race, but a few of them, including Circuit Clerk Giboney, are jubilant. He worked hard for the "Gum Shoe Statesman" and we trust he will be remembered when the doctor begins to dispose of his juicy plums.

HERE AND THERE.

Great Britain has just bought from Chile two new battleships for $9,000,000.

Seven persons died suddenly of heart disease in Owensboro and vicinity within nine days.

Mrs. Martha Schloaman, aged 90, and who weighed 400 pounds, was burned to death at Elmwood, Neb.

Custer Gardner, accused of the murder of Squire and David Osborne, in Hart county, is in the jail at Bowling Green.

A California woman was awarded damages of $27,500 against the Southern Pacific Railway Company for the death of her husband.

As the result of a quarrel, a duel was fought at Chillicothe between two farmers. Henry Gray was killed instantly and Lewis Skaggs, who was wounded twice, can not live.

The Mercer county grand jury indicted the corporation for alleged discrimination in freight rates from Louisville to Harrodsburg. The court says there was no violation of the law.

Matthew Coleman and Jailer Hines captured the notorious Caney Gill, of Garrard county, at Wilmore. He is an old and troublesome offender of the liquor laws—Somerset Journal.

Matt Young, for several years a merchant on the Rolling Fork, Casey county, made an assignment to Adam Ellis a few days ago. Assets, $300; liabilities, $2,000; principally in Louisville and Cincinnati.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Eliza Ward, aged 73, and Sam Williams, aged 65, were made one at London.

Congressman Ollie James and Miss Ruth Thomas were married at the bride's home at Marion Wednesday.

Hugh Fleece Ewing, of the Perryville section, and Miss Virginia Grubbs, daughter of Capt. W. G. Grubbs, of Shelby City, were married at the home of the bride's father.

MISS SALLIE ELKIN will have exhibit and sale of her work in decorated porcelain in the parlor of St. Asaph Hotel on Dec. 15th. She extends to the public a most cordial invitation to call and see her work, even if you do not care to purchase.

Commissioner's Sale.

Lincoln Circuit Court.

M. F. Elkin, guardian, Plaintiff, vs. M. F. Elkin, Jr., Defendant. Notice of Commissioner's Sale.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale rendered at the November term, 1903, of said court in the above styled action pending in said court the undersigned commissioner will on Monday, Dec. 14, 1903, before the court house door in Stanford, Ky., sell to the highest bidder at public outcry the following property: A house and lot containing two acres more or less of land situated on the West side of the Stanford and Danville turnpike, about one mile from Stanford. Said lot is bounded on the North, West and South by the land of Mrs. Nora Goodnight and on the East by said turnpike. Terms of sale: Credit of six months, bond with approved personal security required, bearing 6 per cent. interest from date until paid. Lien retained. The object of the sale is for re-investment of the proceeds under the orders of this court.

R. O. WARREN, Commissioner.

Commissioner's Sale.

Lincoln Circuit Court.

Martin McCormack, Plaintiff, vs. Anderson Carr, Defendant. Commissioner's sale.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale rendered at the November term, 1903, of said court in the above styled action pending in said court the undersigned commissioner will on Monday, Dec. 14, 1903, before the court house door in the town of Stanford, Ky., sell to the highest bidder at public outcry the following described tract of land situated in Lincoln county, Ky., and bounded as follows: On the North by John Turnbull, on the West by James Adams and on the South by James Adams and containing 24 acres and 16 poles of land more or less. The object of the sale is to satisfy the following lien debts and the costs of this action to wit: A debt of $83.33 with 6 per cent. interest from Sept. 1, 1891 until paid, subject to a credit of $16.50 May 15th, 1895, and a further credit of $15 Oct. 14, 1895. A debt of $33.33 with 6 per cent. interest from Sept. 1, 1891, until paid and the further debt of $33.33 with 6 per cent. interest from date until paid. These said liens with their interest and the costs of this suit amount to $180.15 to Dec. 14, 1903. Terms of sale: Credit of six months, bond with approved personal security required, bearing 6 per cent. interest from date until paid. Lien retained. Said bonds have the force and effect of a judgment.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

In consulting with my druggist he advised McElroy's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me.

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after child-birth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

What Woman Owes To Man.

Mrs Craigie, known to the literary world as John Oliver Hobbes, may make herself disliked by the advanced woman if she is not careful about her public utterances. At a recent dinner given by the Lord Mayor of London to the Society of Journalists she replied to the toast of "The Ladies." In the course of her reply she said many very charming things about the accomplishments and achievements of woman, and then dulled the edge of her praise by declaring that woman owes all she knows of the arts and nearly everything else, outside of domesticity, to men, citing Angelica Kaufmann, Geo Sand, George Eliot, Charlotte Bronte and others as examples. She even went so far as to assert that women would not go into the intellectual professions and public life, but for the support and praise of men.

Warming up to her subject, Mrs. Craigie asserted that "the reigns of great queens have also been the epochs of great statesmen. The famous ladies of great historical crises owe their celebrity to the classic descriptions written of them by men. Great actresses, great players on musical instruments, great singers, great scholars and great writers were all, without exception, first taught and trained by men." And then, worst of all, in her peroration she said as to woman's position in the world: "We do not understand half of it. We do as a rule as we are told, and when we are commended for doing it pretty well we are just as happy as tho' we were masters of the situation. We know we are not, which is clever of us, and we do not wish to be, which is cleverer still."

It would take a bold man to utter such sentiments as these, and he would be hauled over the coals more effectively than was Barrie Massey by Mrs. Pooyer. Fortunately it was not a man in this case. It remains to be seen how the emancipated women, the advanced women, the clubwomen and martial spinster will accept this feminine definition of the feminine relation toward the masculine tyrant. Of course there are women who agree with Mrs. Craigie, but they are the women in humble life, the old-fashioned women, the domestic women, the same spirited women, who usually do as they are told and are glad to have someone tell them what to do. They are the vines clinging to the oaks. But on the other hand there are many who are not clingers and who are reveling in the joys of freedom, the pleasures of the club-rooms and have a dooryard of their own. They are not the kind to rest patiently under the accusation of doing as men tell them. It will be interesting to hear from them. What does the Social Economics Club think of John Oliver Hobbes?—Chicago Tribune.

Joseph Chamberlain, in one of his recent tariff reform speeches, told an umbrella story that has not been record ed.

Mr. Chamberlain wished to point out that ignorance was to blame for much of the censure that had been attached to his tariff reform scheme. He said:

"Why my friends, many of my opponents are as ignorant of my proposition as was a certain farmer, many years ago, of the umbrella.

This farmer had made a journey of some 20 miles on foot to a small town. As he was about to set off for home again a hard rain came up and his host loaned him an umbrella—a novelty at the time—opening it himself so as to save his friend all possible trouble.

A week later the farmer brought the umbrella back. The weather was bright and fine, but he held the instrument open over his head.

"This contrivance," he grumbled, "is more trouble than it is worth. There wasn't a doorway in the village I could get it through, and I had to tether it in the field all week."

Revolution Inminent.

A sure sign of approaching revolt and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismiss the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the Kidneys and Bowels, stimulate the Liver, and clarify the blood. Run down systems benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under its searching and thorough effectiveness. Electric Bitters is only 50c, and that is returned if it don't give perfect satisfaction. Guaranteed by all Druggists.

John L. Sullivan was asked one day why he had never taken to giving boxing lessons. He replied:

"Well son, I did try that once. A husky boy was my first and last pupil. He took one lesson from me and went home afterwards a little the worse for wear. When he turned up for the next lesson he said:

"Mr. Sullivan, it was my idea to learn enough pugilism from you to be able to lick a certain young man that I dislike. But I have changed my mind now. If it's all the same to you I'll send this young man down here to take the rest of my lessons for me."

A man is too never old to learn, but sometimes he is too young to realize it.—Philadelphia Record.
